Hickton Clerk of Works Only a Click Away with their Website - 22/06/2010

Release type: Website Review

Hickton has an innovative website that enables architects, clients and contractors to understand the benefits of commissioning a Clerk of Works. Visitors to the website can sign up to receive a copy of the Hickton e-bulletin, containing information relating to issues and problems that may occur on projects. The website also features an enquiry contact form to ensure that anyone who needs additional information or requires a quotation from Hickton can get it quickly and efficiently, saving time and effort for the visitor.

The site features project case studies, latest news, testimonials and press releases along with useful information about the Hickton team and on the role of a Clerk of Works. There is a 'work in your region' page to show visitors the type of work that Hickton has already carried out specifically in that area. Once on the page visitors simply hover over the map and click to see the projects that Hickton have successfully completed in the last 5 years. The website includes a large number of regularly updated case studies providing visitors with an interesting insight into some of the recent projects that have been undertaken.

Within a few clicks, visitors are able to access project case studies across a wide selection of sectors including commercial, education, retail and leisure along with accommodation and transport. Hickton also act as key project advisor on CDMC (Construction Design Management Coordinator) and construction Health and Safety risk management matters and the website includes project examples where these services have been provided. Fully up-to-date with the latest news on projects that have been featured in the press, the website along with the e-bulletins, downloads and client intranet has become an invaluable source of information for design teams, contractors and clients.

Tony Hickton, Managing Director of Hickton, explains: "We believe the website is amongst the most user-friendly on the market. It has been designed to give visitors the information they need to decide whether we are the right people for their project. The initial response has been great and we are hoping to be able to help even more visitors understand the vital role a Clerk of Works offers via the e-bulletins and downloads too." Hickton was recently shortlisted in the CIOB East Midlands Construction Awards 2010 for the category- 'Committed to Excellence and Quality' for the services it provided on the construction of the 'Curve' Performing Arts Centre in Leicester, which is featured on the Hickton website.
